A WELCOME FOR GRANT.

Meeting of Citizens to Arrange for His Reception.

An Enthusiastic Gathering at Willard's Hall -Speeches by Judge MacArthur, Mr. Clapp, General William H. Browne and Others-Committee of One Hundred to be Appointed-Thomas Statue.

The Mass-Meeting at Willard's Hall. A citizens' mass-meeting to take the initia-tive steps in extending a grand reception to General Grant upon his return to this city it was proper to take some steps to give him a reception befitting the National Capital. He then moved that Judge Authur MacArthur be sleeted chairman, which was carried unani-mously. Mr. J. F. Olmstead was elected secre-

JUDGE MACARTHUR'S ADDRESS Judge MacArthur made a short address. He spoke of how all have watched with peculiar pride the brilliant and unexampled tour of General Grant around the world. He has been received by all classes of people, from the peasants in the field to the nobles in their halls, all recognizing his nationality and doing him personal honor. On his return to the United States he has been welcomed on the United States he has been welcomed on the Pacific coast magnificently and cordially. It was suitable that the Capital should take some part in distributing the honors lavished upon this remarkable man—the most illustrious citizen in private life in the whole world. We, among whom he lived and ruled solong, should do him homage without distinction in politics. He wanted to co-operate in a general movement without any political sentiments whatever. On the 19th solitical sentiments whatever. On the 19th of November there will be one of the grandest lemonstrations which has ever taken place in the District—the unveiling of the statue of General Thomas. They proposed an invitation to General Grant to coincide with that movement. The concourse of people which will collect here on that occasion will be very great. There can be no doubt that General Grant's presence would sdd greatly to its cuthusiasm and grandeur. He then called attention to the steps to be taken to promote the movement. Indge MacArthur was frequently applanded.

Dr. O. F. Presbiey moved, as the sense of the ncoting, that A COMMITTEE OF ONE HUNDRED be selected by the chair, without regard to politics, to confer with the Army of the Cumberland, and to make arrangements for the reception of General Grant if he should visit the city to attend the unveiling of the Thomas

Hon. A. M. Clapp moved that the chairman of the meeting be the chairman of the committee. Passed unanimously with applause. It was solled that the committee of 100 would appoint all sub-committees. Colonel Corkisil asked whether any information had been received that General Grant would be here in time for the unveiling. He had learned that General Sherman had received a dispatch from General Chant station that it was impossible for him to Price Marked in Plain Figures on Each Hat. Grant stating that it was impossible for him to be present, as he would be in Indianapolis on the 19th of November. Mr. Clapp said that it had been generally understood that General Grant would be present at the unvoiling of the statue, and the reunion of the Army of the Cumberland. Whether he be present or not it was perfectly proper to take the initiative steps to receive him whenever he should revisit the city. If he should come on the 19th of November he should not catch the people of the District napping. It is certain that he will come some lime then the city of Washington should be pring. It is certain that he will come some time; then the city of Washington should be prepared to give him a reception which would do honor to him as well as to our common country, this city being the Nation's Capital. The Army of the Cumberland have determined the time of the anveiling of the states. They need all the co-marking and sympathy of the proplement of the Cumberland and sympathy of the front and tender their services to the Army of the Cumberland to help them through if Gen-

> the grandest affair of the kind Washington has ever seen. Many thousand invitations have been sent out. The various committees are hard at work. The committee on decoration propose to make the decorations as fine as can be. Thirtyeight poles, each to bear a flag of a State and to be drapped in proper materials, will circle around the monument. They will also have a grand triumphal arch. The committee on music has already had written an excellent grand triumphal arch. The committee on music has already had written an oxcellent ode, which was being set to music by one of the masters of the profession. The time of the music will be beat by the firing of guns by light artillery, a feature unknown to the District. Army bands will furnish the instrumental music. It is expected that a battalion of cadets from West Point will be present. The famous Seventh New York regiment and many organizations have been invited. This many organizations have been invited. This will be the largest display of cx-soldiers and sailors ever seen at one time. The citizens cordially co-operate with the several committees. Two steamers, and more, if necessary, have been offered by Mr. Thompson and others to convey the Army of the Comberland to Mount Ver-non. They are negotiating for the largest hall in the city, the skating-rink, which will seat 2,700. If they could not get it they would get the next best. There has been some talk nbout

BIRING A LABOR TENT for the occasion. It is understood that General Grant will be here—he will make a point of getting here. He moved that the committee of 100 be made permanent. Dr. Presbrey said, that when General Grant understood that not only the Army of Comberland, but the citizens of Washington are ready and cager to receive him, he will be here. [Ap-plause.] It was stated that nearly all the plause.] It was stated that nearly all the hotels would receive their guests at reduced rates. Mr. Clapp moved that whether General Grant came or not, the committee of 199 agree to act in concert with the Army of the Cum-berland until their feast is over. This motion was carried, and the meeting adjourned, subect to the call of the chairman

Chairman MacArthur, after the meeting had adjourned, explained that in the event of Gon-eral Grant's acceptance of the invitation of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland he would become the guest of that army and thereby become Condition of Mr. and Mrs. Brodhend. A private letter from South Newmarket, N. H., the residence of ex-Comptroller Brodhead, represents the condition of Mrs. Brodhead, who met with a fearful accident on the 22d instant, ns stated in The National Republican of Saturday, as very critical, with the chances in her favor. The tampon (or plug) in the hole in her windpipe has not yet been removed. The wounds on her face are healing. She is unable to swallow, and receives nourishment unable to swallow, and receives nourishment by hyperdermic injections and other artificial means. She is free from fever, and in good spirits. The ex-comptroller is very feeble, but his disease has subsided. Terribly wound-ed as Mrs. Brodhead is she will probably be the first to regain her health and strength, as Mr. Brodhead has been sick so long, and is so weak and emaciated, much time will be required to recuperate. At one time Mr. Brodhead's life was despaired of, and he was told he prob-ably would not live for tweight hours, whereably would not live forty-eight hours, where-upon, with that humor which seems never to forsake him, be apologized to his brother-in-law, Mr. Pike, at whose house he is staying remarking that he "was sorry to be so impalite as to leave a corpse in his house, but he promised not to repeat the offcase." Mr. and Mrs. Brodhead are receiving the best medical attendance and the most careful nursing from Mr. and Mrs. Pike.
